“Diamonds are happier when they are free!”

Chopard
More than mere jewellery, Happy Diamonds are modern-day talismans. Accompanying a world of changing cycles and subtle shifts, Happy Diamonds open up infinite horizons for perpetual transformations, beating to the tune of a world in constant motion – that of feminine emancipation and women's extraordinary Joie de Vivre. The infinite spinning of the dancing diamonds enables the collection to embed joyful moments in the mind by associating them with certain creations that inevitably bring back happy memories. Stemming from the magical Chopard alchemist’s touch, Happy Diamonds encapsulate fleeting and precious emotions in life within a timeless creation.

With Happy Diamonds, Chopard introduced a unique allure, a flash of brilliance, an inimitable stance. The Maison is now reaching new heights in terms of innovation, audacity and social concerns by bringing corporate responsibility into the very heart of its creations. Since July 2018, all the gold used in Chopard’s ateliers and foundry is ethical, meaning responsibly sourced.

“True luxury comes only when you know the handprint of your supply chain and I am very proud of our gold sourcing program. As Creative Director of the brand, I am so proud to share the stories behind each beautiful piece to our customers and know they will wear these stories with pride”, Caroline Scheufele.
“Chopard ethical creations makes me feel like myself, but elevated to the next level”

HAPPY SPORT
25 years of Joie de Vivre

One of the most famous interpretation of dancing diamonds, the Happy Sport Collection, is 25 years young. Since its creation in 1993 by Caroline Scheufele, Co-President and Artistic Director, Happy Sport celebrates a Joie de Vivre daily reinvented by women in conquering the place they wish to hold and the life they wish to lead. Having appeared in countless different versions, it has thus become the first women’s collectible watch: overturning our traditional relationship with time, it is no longer worn merely to tell the time, instead offering a chance to enjoy the marvellous sight of joyful dancing diamonds. An endless performance of ballet dancers spinning on the wrist.

If any jeweller has become a master in the art of crafting hearts, it would most certainly be Chopard, which has raised this symbol to emblematic status through its exceptional creations. A perfect alliance between Chopard’s big heart and iconic dancing diamonds, the Happy Hearts Collection exudes the aura of a talisman. It is a promise one makes to oneself or gives to a loved one, as well as an anthem to Joie de Vivre. The choice of Chopard’s jewellery creations is never insignificant. Far more than merely pieces of jewellery, they are about ties woven between families, sweethearts and friends. A link between oneself and the world, as well as with the precious moments testifying to these cherished relations. Jewellery brimming with meaning, symbolising caring for others. This choice is that of big-hearted women, who see in the Chopard’s commitments an echo of their own generosity. Inspired by the idea that attention to one’s personal needs and desires must never be detrimental to others, such women find in Happy Hearts creations a sense of genuine consistency with their own value system, inextricably interwoven with a desire for self-giving.

Chopard, the big-hearted Maison, has always regarded self-giving and generosity as its core values. As a family firm passed on from generation to generation, it does not confine itself to selling exceptional watches and jewellery, but also devotes the family-driven success and influence to philanthropic commitments. In 2009, Chopard joined forces with friend of the Maison Petra Nemcova, whom the foundation helps to rebuild safe, resilient schools in areas impacted by natural disasters. To support All Hands and Hearts - Smart Response, Caroline Scheufele has created a special edition 18-carat rose gold bangle from the Happy Hearts Collection, featuring a red heart as well as a heart with a dancing diamond. Part of the proceeds are dedicated to supporting the charity.

Happy Hearts & All Hands and Hearts Smart Response
“Chopard allows us to rebuild more schools for children whose lives have been forever altered by natural disasters.”

Petra Nemcova
To help fund programmes that benefit The Naked Heart Foundation, Chopard has crafted a special edition of the Happy Hearts bangle adorned for the first time with a pink mother-of-pearl heart, from which a percentage of all sales proceeds will go to this organisation dedicated to helping children with special needs. Set up in 2004 by supermodel and philanthropist Natalia Vodianova, the charity’s main mission is to help build an inclusive society that is open to people with disabilities and special needs, through encouraging play and creation of free support services for affected families. The foundation supports a range of smaller Russian NGOs focused on children with special needs, as well as running family support centres, training teachers of special schools and nurseries to use modern technologies for working with children with autism, along with organising integrative summer camps for children with special needs and their parents.
“In seeking happiness for others, you find it for yourself.”

Chopard supports the “Educate a Child” programme run by the Education Above All Foundation through two specially created Happy Hearts bangles. Picking up the aesthetic codes of dancing diamonds, these bracelets in 18-carat rose or white gold feature a heart enclosing a dancing diamond and a circle with an “Educate a Child” charm, facing each other in an elegant “pas de deux”. The Education Above All Foundation, set up in 2012 by Her Highness Sheikha Moza bint Nasser, aims to sustainably improve human, social and economic conditions worldwide through education.

For its cooperative endeavour with the charity, Chopard has specifically chosen to back the “Educate a Child” programme aiming to facilitate access to schooling for children in geographical areas where it is most threatened by poverty, environmental factors, cultural barriers or conflicts. Looking firmly to the future and to those who will build tomorrow’s world, this programme wagers on the benefits in terms of progress and prosperity that children’s education can provide.

It all began with a bold move. Rather than static diamonds caged in by a setting, however precious, Chopard decided to take an entirely different route. In 1976, when society and feminine archetypes were changing faster than ever, the Maison’s brilliant idea was to leave diamonds entirely free between two sapphire crystals, thus enabling them to move without restraint, and through this very movement to enhance their inherent sparkle. “These diamonds are happier when they are free!” exclaimed Karin Scheufele – who at the time had been heading the family Maison alongside her husband – when she first set eyes on the outlines of what would become the Happy Diamonds concept. This statement then became the name of the collection.
